NEXT WEEKEND'S READINGS:
THE FIRST SUNDAY OF ADVENT

Next weekend we begin a new liturgical season & year with Advent, preparing us to celebrate the Incarnation & Birth of Jesus. Meanwhile, the Gospel event recorded is near the end of His ministry & time on earth. He was preparing His disciples for His Second Coming, the trials & tribulations that await Christians especially that test their faithfulness, so that they may be found alert & ready when He returns. At the same time we, who already know that the Messiah has come, prepare to celebrate His first coming with the Season of Christmas. As we enter this season of preparation, let us take time to schedule spiritual activities for the holy Season of Christmas.

STEWARDSHIP

The Thanksgiving holiday is all about recognizing our blessings, all of which come from God - whether indirectly or directly. Recognizing these blessings should inspire us to act on & develop a spirituality of gratitude. This gratitude spurs us on to use our blessings in stewardship of our time, talent, and/or treasure. Have a blessed Thanksgiving!

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

“Jesus Christ, Lord of all things! You see my heart, you know my desires. Possess all that I am - You alone. I am your sheep.”

- St. Agatha
